

Barry Tomalin MA, Dip. Ed. is a former BBC broadcaster and radio producer and is Director of Cultural Training at International House, London, one of the world's leading language and cultural training organisations.

He is also Visiting Lecturer at the University of East Anglia, London Academy of Diplomacy and a qualified English language teacher and trainer. He is the author of 'The World's Business Cultures and How to Unlock Them' (Thorogood 2010), shortlisted for the CMI Management Book of the Year award 2010.